HER FATHER A LITERARY MAN.

Not That He Had Written Anything, but
It Looked Well In an Obituary."I am exceedingly sorry to disturb you at such a time and upon such an errand," remarked the reporter as the front door was opened in response to his ringing. "But I have been sent to see if you would not kindly furnish me with some facts regarding Mr. Blank. We wish for an obituary.""Certainly," responded the woman.
Then she turned and called out loudly:
"Mamie, Mamie, here's a reporter.
Come down and tell him what an estimate your father was."There seemed to be nothing of unusual interest in Mr. Blank's history until the reporter inquired the nature of Mr.
Blank's business."He was a literary man," replied the woman.

"Indeed! What did he write?"

"Well, I really—I really don't think he ever wrote any books."

"Newspaper man?"

"No," remarked the woman, "but his father was. My grandfather was editor of the Sussex Bugle Note. You probably know the paper?""May I ask what your father did as a literary man? Did he edit or revise any publications? Was he connected with any trade paper—almanac—I beg your pardon—directory or guide?"

"No," said the woman earnestly.

By this time the reporter was not a little perplexed. "Really," he said after a pause, "I should like to make my report complete. Can you not be more specific regarding your father's literary work?""Well, the truth is," responded the woman, "he was engaged by Galley & Form, publishers of the 'Compendium of Universal Knowledge.' He was their sole agent in Connecticut and sold 10,- 000 sets last summer on commission. Of course you needn't say anything about that.
Just put him down as a literary man. It will be perfectly satisfactory to the family."

BREVITIES.

Skates of all kinds at Lange & Schmitt's. *

Fine fresh oysters at C. J. Brookins' at 60 cents a can.

Twenty cases of Douglas butter were shipped west last night.

Wm Thompson returned from California yesterday morning.

Ormsby county has only a little over $100 on the delinquent tax list.

A splendid line of crockery and glassware at Lange & Schmitt's. *

D. B. Lyman of the Comstock changed cars for San Francisco last night.

Trenmore Coffin and Alf Chartz, Carson attorneys, were in town yesterday.

Wear your old clothes to the Baptist Church to-night. Come and have a good time.

Six feet of snow fell on the summit between Carson and Lake Tahoe during the late storm.

E. Stoltz of the Tichnor and Lyon clothing house arrived on the V. & T. and remained over.

The swing got fast in the snow Sunday this side of Truckee and was delayed an hour or two.

Look out for the extraordinary cut in prices at Fredrick's jewelry store for the coming holidays. *

Mrs. M. Sheeline and son returned from visit to her sister, Mrs. George W. Baker, at Oakland, California.

A fresh invoice of those fine Muscatel raisins at four pounds for a quarter at Barnes & Co.'s cheap cash store. *

The ladies of Unity Circle will give an entertainment next Friday evening to which the public is invited. See ad.

M. Nathan is receiving goods every day. He has a splendid line of gent's neckwear and silk handkerchiefs for Christmas.

A. J. McCone, Mrs. John McCone and Miss Dollie McCone arrived from California yesterday morning and left on the V. & T.

McLean's patent swing rockers at E. C. Sessions & Co.'s new store in the Improvement building. The only perfect chairs made. *

L. Dean shipped sixteen cars of cattle to Baden yesterday for the San Francisco market and will ship eighteen cars to-morrow.

Justice Linn dismissed a charge of disturbing the peace against two young men yesterday, the complaining witness declining to prosecute.

A very enjoyable entertainment for the benefit of the Congregational Church was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Lee last evening.

The Multi-Motor Windmill Co. took down their windmills on the Westerfield block yesterday, the wind of a day or two ago having damaged them considerably.

Treasurer Boyd reports that the delinquent list will amount to about $3,000, the greater portion of which will likely be paid within the next few days.

There is three feet of snow at Truckee and four or five feet of the "beautiful" at the Summit. Snow plows were run from Verdi west to Blue Canyon.

Nearly all women have good hair, though many are grey, and few are bald. Hall's Hair Renewer restores the natural color and thickens the growth of the hair.

The Elko Independent says the members of the Legislature from Elko county are all married men and will very likely oppose a bill to give women the elective franchise.

Now is the time for merchants to let the people know what they have in the line of holiday goods. Money is scarce, it is true, but people loosen their purse strings about Christmas time.

In publishing the names of the special committee to receive the press excursionists at Truckee, the name of Hon. C. C. Powning was inadvertently omitted. Mr. Powning is one of the committee.

Though pure and simple, and so mild, it might be used by any child, Yet Sozodont is so swift and sure That mouth and teeth with wondrous speed From tartar and from taint are freed Till they become sweet, white and pure.

A DIFFICULT ROLE.
Advocating Bimetallism and Sustaining the Republican Party at the Same Time.

CANDELAZ, Dec 8, 1894.

ED. STATE JOURNAL—I have always regarded and still do regard the San Francisco Chronicle as the best exponent of bimetallism in the whole State of California. It is, however, hampered by its being also the leading Republican organ in that State. This double position compels it sometimes to defend acts of the Republican party, which an untrammeled silver paper could, with advantage to itself, leave undone. Nevertheless does the Chronicle excel other papers in that it keeps the silver question before its readers at all times, whether its party suffers defeat or meets with success on the tariff question; unlike such papers and men, who, in 1892, before the Presidential election, advocated free silver coinage and during the contest in Congress for the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase clause, were afraid of offending or opposing Mr. Cleveland by pen or voice.

An editorial in the Chronicle is the particular article that calls for these remarks, and if I also review its shortcomings you must attribute my criticisms to my dullness of perception of the beauties of the results of either the Wilson tariff bill or the improvement of business caused by the assurance that the Republican victories will stop further reduction of tariff duties. I simply do not indulge in either of these sophistries, but endorse what the Chronicle said has resulted from the "attempt to force the world to a single gold standard" and its proposed effective remedy: "The return to bimetallism," on which we do depend for the renewal of currents of activity in the arteries of commerce to set the industrial and commercial world upon the highroad to prosperity."

But when the Chronicle asserts "that the Republican party in a general way has always stood for bimetallism in the abstract, at least so far as platform declarations are concerned, but the difficulty has been, that the platform promises in this matter have not meant much, not because the party has not been sincere, but because the money problem has not been understood. Still the Republicans have favored legislation looking to an universal use of silver in the currency of the country."

The Chronicle only proves how difficult the task is to maintain its position as a Republican and a silver party at the same time.

Our United States Senator, Mr. J. P. Jones, explained that in his address to the people of Nevada in answer to the Republican State Central Committee's request that he resign, Senator Jones said that he felt it to be incompatible with his duties to the people of the State of Nevada to remain in the folds of the Republican party.

Of course, the Chronicle being differently situated, can afford to lead the double role as exponent of bimetallism and adviser to the leaders of the Republican party, that they take advantage of the present opportunity by taking up the silver coinage before the shrewd Democrats seize it.

But when it stops to defend the past acts on silver by the Republican party, it loses time. If the platform promises in the silver matter have not meant much that meaning was made ambiguous by the same master hands that framed also the Democratic platform, and Mr. DeYoung, although a delegate to the National Republican Convention of 1888, could not prevent the fraud that was intended by it. That the money problem was not understood, is equally fallible, because Mr. DeYoung and Senator Teller of Colorado and others understood the money problem from a scientific standpoint then, as they do now, and endeavored to instruct their fellow delegates in the solution of that problem, but the representatives of the Eastern money concerns were too numerous in that convention, and taught their method with success in that convention as well as in the convention of 1892, and as they taught Secretary Charles Foster and Mr. Carlisle.

In the face of such influences Mr. De Young and Senator Teller cannot expect to direct the policy of the Republican party. But neither should they try to explain away the existing difficulties.

The promise to use an increased amount of silver in the currency of the country was disregarded by Mr. Foster when he had the chance to pay in coin instead of, as he did, in gold alone, the certificates given for bullion purchased in conformity with the provisions of the Sherman law. The Republican party, as such, did not resent this abuse that ultimately led to the repeal of that act. On the contrary, the leading Republican organ, the New York Tribune, and the leading Republican spirits ex-Speaker Reed in the House, and Senator John Sherman in the Senate, assisted in the unconditional repeal and applauded Mr. Cleveland for favoring it.

If Mr. Reed has seen the error of his way and Senator Lodge has done the same and both will hereafter stand for the free coinage or an enlarged use of silver, the silver men will feel pleased, and will hope that more prominent Republicans will follow their example.

In pointing out errors contained in the Chronicle's article referred to I was not actuated by any desire to detract from the value of the services of that great journal to the silver cause, but I wished to show the difficulty of sustaining the double role of Republican and silver advocate, especially in trying to defend the past acts of that party toward silver.

DOUGLAS MINING DISTRICT.

Several Paying Mines Developed—The Ore Free Milling.

DOUGLAS, December 7, 1894.

ED. JOURNAL—As little is known of this mining camp by the outside world I will endeavor through the JOURNAL to give the public a brief history of the district and also a statement of its present outlook.

The district was named for W. J. Douglas, an energetic mining man and one of its discoverers. It is situated seven miles south of Soda Springs in Esmeralda county at an altitude of 7,000 feet. Wood is quite plentiful and two good sized springs supply the camp with water, also the five-stamp mill of the Douglas Mining Company. There are several more springs in the immediate vicinity from which water can be piped to the camp at a small cost.

In the last fourteen months 125 mining locations have been made, several of which have been developed into paying mines. One of these is the Hardscrab, which recently cleaned up $10,000 in gold from 125 tons of ore, and there is enough such ore in sight to keep the mill running for a year.

The Orphan Boy ore works $80 per ton; the New Party ore $40 per ton; the Julia $25 per ton; the Snowball $25 per ton; the Fortuna $25 per ton; the Hardluck $30 per ton; and the Ondesa ore is reported to be worth $200 per ton. The ore of the district are free milling and $10 ore has been worked at a profit. So far 400 tons of ore have been worked and the bullion produced and shipped was worth $16,000. The Douglas Company is making arrangements to run the mill day and night as well as all the mines above named are bringing in ore.

At present there are seventy-five men in camp, many of whom are working on leased mines. There are many lodges, the most prominent of which can be traced five miles by croppings.

The opening of spring will see a big boom in this camp, as several mines will be well developed by that time.

Every blast is touched off exposes more ore.

A SUICIDE.

An Old and Respected Citizen of the Comstock Takes His Life.

Virginia City was horrified on Sunday afternoon at the suicide of James R. McKay, an old and respected citizen of the Comstock. He had been a sufferer for years from severe stomach troubles, and it is supposed that in a fit of despondency he committed the rash act. He went into the cellar under his house and cut his throat with a pocket knife, dying in a very short time. He leaves a wife and three children.

The California Press Banquet.

An erroneous impression seems to have gone out in relation to the Twentieth Century Club, which has in charge the preparations for this banquet.

The facts relative to the matter are that the ladies kindly consented to provide this banquet at the actual cost of the same, not to exceed $1 a plate, they having no intention to engage in any speculation for profit, but simply actuated by a feeling of public spirit and a desire to arrange the matter in such a manner as should be a credit to our city.

Snow on the V. & T.

The V. & T. express train ran into a snow drift between Washoe City and Franktown last Sunday. The snow was about two feet deep and packed solid so that the engine could not get through it nor could it back out of it, and it was stuck fast until an engine with a force came to the ground and cleared the track. The local train from Virginia City was also delayed by snow drifts at American Flat and was five hours late when it arrived here.

State Board of Agriculture.

The State Board of Agriculture met yesterday and received the reports of the President, Secretary and Treasurer and ordered them printed. A number of other unimportant matters were attended to. The election of officers for the ensuing year then took place. C. Powning was elected President, J. F. Emmitt Secretary, and R. S. Osburn Treasurer; W. O. H. Martin, the retiring President, and C. H. Stoddard, Secretary, declining to serve any longer.

Will Not Stop at Carson.

At the citizens meeting Saturday evening to arrange for the coming journalists, Mr. D. A. Bender stated that the only railroad arrangements they had made with the V. & T. was to go direct from Reno to the Comstock, inspect the mines and return. This being the case Carson is not included in the stoppings and on hearing this information adjourned without action.

Carson Appeal.

District Court.

The case of Lovelock vs. the Whitecloud Mining Co. was set for Monday, January 21, 1895.

In the case of Hartung vs. Peterson a motion was granted to refile costs, and $12.50 was ordered stricken out of cost bill.

Go to Fredrick's jewelry store for the latest vocal and instrumental music at 10 cents per copy.

FLORISTON ITEMS.

Effect of the Storm on the Ice Ponds up the River.

DOUGLASS, December 7, 1894.

ED. JOURNAL—As little is known of this mining camp by the outside world I will endeavor through the JOURNAL to give the public a brief history of the district and also a statement of its present outlook.

The People's and Rocky Run Ice Co. have sliced out their ponds and are ready for a freeze.

Mrs. M. A. Garthe with her two children, Grace, and Butz, left for Nevada City Saturday to spend the holidays.

The Mountain Ice Co., having the snow scraped off its pond, but it is doubtful whether the crop of ice can be saved.

It is reported that the snow has stopped.

Snow began falling the night of the 5th and continued most of the time until Sunday night. The first snow plow came down to Floriston Friday.

On Sunday morning there seemed to be no abatement of the storm, and a heavy "son-easter" sprung up which drifted the snow into great banks.

The Mountain Ice Co., although getting its ice comparatively clear of snow at the first of the storm, later the pond was covered by the drifts. The men are almost worn out and the storm was so heavy that many of them could not stand it and were forced to quit work out of some of the ponds.

RAILROAD TAXES.

The Amount Paid by the Central Pacific to the Several Counties.

The amount of taxes paid last week by the Southern Pacific to the several counties through which the railroad runs in this State is as follows:

Washoe county.....$20,388.18

Lyon county.....4,167.90

Churchill county.....7,366.54

Humboldt county.....44,202.32

Lander county.....17,670.72

Eureka county.....15,263.98

Elko county.....34,846.00

Total.....$141,874.93

If the Government forecloses its mortgage and takes possession of the road the State and the counties will lose that revenue as Government property is not subject to taxation for any purpose. To offset this loss to the State it is claimed that passenger and freight rates, if the road was under Government control, would be much less than they are now and the people could, therefore, afford to lose the rev-ene from the taxation on the road.

RAILROAD TAXES.

Gus Koppe and family have returned from Grass Valley and will remain here during the winter.

HOW BULLETS ARE CAUGHT.

One of the Most Mystifying Conjuring Tricks Newly Explained.

Speaking of the bullet catching trick in particular, Professor F. D. Hewes, who is also a dealer in the art mystic, said:

"There are literally 'ut' few tricks in magic. The so called new ones presented to the public from time to time by our leading magicians, conjurers or whatever they call themselves, are simply the revival of some old experiments clothed in new form. The catching of bullets is not by any means a new trick, for it is almost as old as magic itself. I remember seeing the old 'Fakir of Ava' perform the same trick, only in a different manner, when I was a small boy. The catching of the bullet is easily explained. In the first place, to accomplish it the conjurer must procure an old style caplock, smooth bore musket, some powder, caps and a leaden bullet. All these must be perfectly free from any deception. Now we come to the ramrod. Therein lies the whole mystery of the trick. It is constructed with a small metallic tube closed at one end and so arranged as to become detached from the end of the ramrod at will.

"Having explained the construction of all the appliances, we will now proceed to do the trick. The gun, bullet, powder and caps are freely given for examination. The performer requests some one to put the charge of powder into the gun. Next he inserts a small piece of paper and rams it down, by a twist of the ramrod to the left the small metal tube is dislodged from the point and remains within the gun barrel. Now the bullet is marked and placed in the gun by one of the audience; again the professor rams it down. Now, by a contrary twist, the metal tube becomes fast to the ramrod so that in withdrawing it the bullet is removed.

"The performer now palms the marked bullet and all that remains to do is to go through the motions of catching it when the gun is discharged, and the spectators are thoroughly mystified. You see, it is all very simple when you know how."—Boston Post.

Jumping Pills.

A Germanstown bachelor of convivial habits, missing his last train, spent the night with a friend in town and met with a harrowing experience. When they awoke in the morning, the Germanman man, to use his own expression, felt like a fur salesman who had swallowed his samples. He was still a trifle under the influence of the rosy, and his nerves were not in the best possible condition. On the dressing case was an open pill box containing two pills. He was about to ask his friend what kind of pills they were when one of them gave a little squirm and turned completely over. The Germantown man rubbed his eyes and stared in amazement. Then the other pill slowly began rolling about the box, and his eyes threatened to bulge out of their sockets. The two pills next began hopping up and down, as though trying to escape from the box. Thoroughly frightened, the Germantown gave a yell, and jumping into bed pulled the clothes over his head.

"Take 'em away!" he groaned.

"Take what away?" asked his very much surprised friend.

"Those pills in that box. Have I got 'em, or are they really jumping about?"

"Pills!" was the laughing reply.

"They're not pills. They're couplets of those jumping beans I bought yesterday and put in the pill box to keep."

He Stocked Up on Eyes.

Of the glass eye worn by a prominent publisher of New York several amusing tales are told. The artificial orb matched its natural fellow so accurately that the two cannot be distinguished apart. One day the publisher was visited by a man considerably under the influence of liquor. The caller made an objectionable remark to which the only reply vouchsafed was a prolonged stare of indignation. The steady gaze affected the man's shattered nerves, and his bold control left him entirely when he saw a fly crawl over the publisher's glass eye without causing him even to wince.

"Have I got 'em again?" cried the imbecile as he fled to the nearest drug store, intent on loading up with aromatic spirits of ammonia and bromide.

While on a yachting trip the publisher "feared for a few hours from seasickness. When he recovered, he noticed that the good eye was bloodshot, while the other retained the brilliancy of up-and-heath. "Ah," he remarked, cheerfully, "I must stock up on eyes so as to be prepared for emergencies." And he did, and he now has on hand orbits of various shadings.—New York World.

Talking Through a Human Body.

To talk through a human body, or a row of human bodies, for the matter of that, is one of the weirdest of the electrician's feats. If a telephone wire be severed and the two ends be held by a person, one in each hand, far apart, it is quite possible for two individuals to carry on a conversation through the body of the medium as readily and as distinctly as if the line had been properly connected.—Electricity.

Veronese loved to represent festive gatherings on a colossal scale. His "Marriage of Cana" is 90 feet long and 20 feet high and contains 130 figures. The most remarkable feature of the painting is the group of musicians in front round a table. Among this party Veronese represents Titian, Tintoretto, himself and other celebrated painters.
